But this does not mean that passengers who are on trains here will not be able to get to their destinations. Passenger trains will run through to their destinations and in case of a strike that branch of the service will not be suspended before Wednesday at the earliest.

Among people not connected with the railroad, discussion was as to what percentage of the men will leave their posts if the strike is declared.

An agent of the company has been would, if in effect, cause further difficulty in obtaining foodstuffs and probably add to the already excessively high prices of many articles. So many strike threats seem to be awakening sleeping demons.

CITY BEAUTIFUL CONDITIONS.
Far From Present State of Danielson—Paving Near Station Needed.

Once upon a time Danielson was inspired by the efforts and the promises of a City Beautiful campaign. War was declared on billboards so prominently located in the heart of the borough as to be regarded as a hideous, multi-colored nightmare and their obliteration was forthwith decreed. Much was said and something was done toward freeing the streets from unnecessary litter—garbage cans were supplied and placed at needed points. An era of beautifying about the business center included the planting of shrubbery about the gates at the Main street crossing.

The brighter the corner where you are movement seemed destined to flower into results that would produce some degree of civic magnificence when it suddenly flunked and eventually died a lingering death.

All of which leads up to the fact that the approach to Danielson from the railroad station as it is to be seen on any of these bright March mornings of these to make anyone with a sense of the aesthetic or a grain of civic pride weep for shame.

Mud, ankle deep, and puddles everywhere with the heart of the street-wide lake that has stood for weeks, is the sight that greets the eye who alights from a train to look westward toward the city center.

Things well, prides itself rightfully on its general beauty and talks much of progress and growth. No backwoods highway is in much worse condition than the street and square about the station, and the slovenly mess there is made to look worse by contrast with the splendid pavement that runs through the Main street, upon which this "slough of despond" borders.

The men who are kicking strenuously against this condition sum up their solution for improvement in one word—paving.

WILLIAMSVILLE PLANT.
Subject of Flattering Write-up in Goodyear Publication.

The current issue of the Wingfoot, official publication of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company of Akron, O., has a feature article on the concern's fabric plant, at Williamsville. The story is printed for the benefit of thousands of the concern's operatives in Akron and contains a splendid tribute to the business efficiency and foresight that has been shown in establishing the fabric industry and in producing a cloth that is regarded as of the very highest quality under the direction of Agent Robert W. Boye.

In conclusion the writer says: The Goodyear Tire and Rubber company can justly feel as proud of the eastern fabric mill as it is of its tire factory in Canada, cotton plantation in Arizona, rubber plantation in the Far East and its great factory at Akron.

In Putnam this week investigating the situation and looking after land that must be acquired by the company in establishing the yard.

Land north of the coal chute in the upper railroad yard must be acquired to carry out the plans, and the Quinbaug river will have to be diverted from its present course back into its former course, through what is known as Deer river. The river was once before diverted from its original course to make way for railroad improvements.

The new yard plan would cover with tracks and other equipment and facilities a large area west of the present main line tracks and extending from the northern limits of the local yard to the southern limits of Mechanicville.

If the changes are made, the yards here will have a greatly enlarged capacity.
